

Consolidated Heavy Industries

Graphic identity

Consolidated Heavy Industries, a small L.A. film production company, charged Thinkso with creating an identity that would give it real weight. Inspired by the populous feel of soviet constructivism, the logo connotes a large organization armed with the equipment ready to take on any project. The red, black and white color scheme is at once distinct and flexible, allowing for a variety of different combinations.

